

Homan d.o.o. Ljubljana, with its registered office in Trzin, Ljubljanska cesta 40 (hereinafter »Homan d.o.o.«), which manages personal data according to the following privacy policy. Homan d.o.o. collects and processes personal data in accordance with GDPR laws.

Our official representative is the CEO Samo Homan, who is available via our official e-mail address: info@homan.si

The purpose of this privacy policy is to familiarize buyers, potential buyers or visitors to the site <http://homan.si> with the management and collection of their personal data.

Personal data

We collect the following data:

- identification data, your name and surname, username, password and your VAT ID if you are a legal entity
- contact data, that is gathered to more easily get in contact with you, in particular your e-mail address, phone number, residence and bank account information
- order info, in particular data about your orders that relates to the information about ordered items, payment type and bank account information.

Whenever you visit our website we collect general, non-personal data (number of visits, average time spent on website, visited pages), which we then use for our own analytics such as page popularity and to improve the general user experience. This data is not subject to further processing and is not forwarded to any third parties.